

By Carl Barkow

Patriotic organizations throughout the nation are sending letters and telegrams to the President and Congressmen, asking them to keep Congress in session during the war emergency, to keep America out of war, and to support adequate national defense. Thousands of Mothers enrolled in the National Legion of Mothers of America are sending letters which begin, "Keep Our Sons Out of Foreign Wars."

The result has been that they are getting more and more support from Congress and each day Senators and Congressmen may be heard on the radio declaring themselves as opposed to American participation in the war.

Recently I heard one Congressman (I didn't get his name) declare that "the worst fifth columnist in America is the one who would plunge the country into war." He asked for an avalanche of letters and telegrams addressed to the President and Congress, demanding that Congress remain in session, keep the country out of war, and support the national defense program.

Senator Vandenberg said recently: "America is not automatically lost if the Allies lose. We cannot afford to dissipate our own strength if there is any such contingent menace ahead as we are constantly warned by the sponsors of our new status. We cannot have a chip on each shoulder and both arms in a sling." Senator Vandenberg is a straight thinker, and may be the next president of the United States.

The American people have overcome their war hysteria and the pendulum is swinging the other way. The national leaders are learning that the country does not want war. We may expect to hear a lot more about that during the Republican National convention which convenes next Tuesday in Philadelphia.

Undoubtedly the chief plank in the Republican platform will be a declaration to keep America out of war. The Republicans failed to do that in 1916 when the country was bombarded with war propaganda just as it is now, and the result was that the voters elected Woodrow Wilson, a Democrat, because of the campaign slogan, "He kept us out of war." A few months after his election we were in the war. However, the Democratic party was reelected in 1920, and didn't come back for 12 years.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and John L. Lewis, head of the powerful C.I.O. unions, have been sliding into the Republican camp the past few days, chiefly because they think the Republican party will be definitely an anti-war party and Labor is opposed to war on the grounds that "the sons of laboring men must bear the brunt of war." A coalition of labor, small business, mothers, and men of military age, under the Republican banner, would sweep that party into power.

Of course the Democratic party will also say its chief desire is to keep America out of war, but there may be some pretty hot fireworks in the Democratic national convention if Senator Wheeler and some of the other anti-war candidates begin picking to pieces excerpts from the President's speeches. The result may be that the Democrats themselves may change horses in mid-stream and nominate an avowed anti-war candidate in the hope of winning the election. You can be sure your bottom dollar that the Democratic platform will also be opposed to participation in the European war.

In the meantime, those of you who believe that war would be a needless sacrifice, had better write letters to Washington, which will have a wholesome effect on the immediate future and on political parties.

We can't understand why some of the country's politicians would deny Colonel Lindbergh the right to speak against America's entrance into the war. If war does come, Lindbergh will probably be among the first to enlist. We don't deny a criminal the right to plead for his life, surely we should not deny a patriot the right to plead for the lives of patriotic American youth. Lindbergh pleads for an impregnable national defense, especially a strong air force. In that respect, we agree with him, for the war in Europe has proven the effectiveness of superiority in the air. If Germany wins, he argued, Europe would be dominated by "the strongest military nation the world has ever known" and if we enter the war we "must be prepared to attack that nation." Lindbergh has lived in Europe several years. He knows, better than we do, what has been going on over there the past few years, and he, along with General

A STATEMENT FROM SAMSON

To The Desert Sun.

Dear Editor: It is well recognized that "news" is scarce in Palm Springs in the summer time. At the same time "news" should be held within the bounds of reason.

Because I left for Los Angeles for a week or ten days, and stayed with friends an additional few days, hardly justified a well-meaning person getting excited over my extended stay and filing a report without consulting my office — to say nothing of the "scare headlines" exaggerating the incident and probably creating false impressions in the minds of many.

Will you please give this letter the same prominence that you gave to the missing persons report.

Yours truly,
Herbert Samson.

HERBERT SAMSON NOT LOST;
WAS IN LOS ANGELES
ON BUSINESS

Two days after an "all-points" bulletin had been sent out by police over the teletype to the effect that Herbert Samson, prominent Palm Springs insurance and real estate agent, had been missing for about 10 days, the village was greatly relieved last Saturday morning when that gentleman checked out of a Los Angeles hotel and returned to the desert resort.

Palm Springs residents were shocked last Friday when the telling that Mr. Samson was allegedly missing broke in the Riverside Enterprise and Los Angeles morning papers. When Los Angeles evening papers carried the story Friday night, and the local man still had not been located, his many friends on the desert became really alarmed.

Before going to press last Friday afternoon, this newspaper checked with the Riverside county sheriff's office and with Chief of Police N. H. Harstad and was notified that no trace of Mr. Samson had been found up to that time.

It has now been learned that Mr. Samson went to Los Angeles on business. When he was about to return to his office here, friends in the city pointed to the extreme temperatures on the desert and succeeded in persuading him to stay with them a few more days until the weather cooled down at Palm Springs. If the well-meaning friend who became alarmed and asked police to send out a bulletin that Herbert Samson was missing had only checked with Mr. Samson's office, he could have found out he was in Los Angeles on business, because Mr. Samson asserts that his office was in touch with him at all times.

JOHN SPRAGUES
SUMMER AT PASADENA

Mr. and Mrs. John Sprague and the baby left a week ago for their summer home in Pasadena. Mr. Sprague comes down to Palm Springs once each week to take care of his duties as city treasurer.

Leslie Charteris, famous author of many mystery stories, will spend the summer in La Jolla after wintering here in the village.

Library Schedule

The summer hours of the library are as follows:

Monday—9:12, 1-5, 7-9.
Tuesday—9:12, 1-4.
Wednesday—9:12, 1-5, 7-9.
Thursday—9:12, 1-4.
Friday, 9:12, 1-4.

The library will be closed all day Saturday and Sunday.

Palm Canyon Rehabilitation Started by Indian Workmen

In an effort to somewhat restore the original beauty of Palm Canyon before the mob of tourists return next fall, workmen of the Agua Caliente band of Indians recently started rehabilitation work in the world-famous canyon, which was swept by a disastrous fire April 21.

At present the Indians are busily engaged in cutting out burned cottonwood trees, burned mesquite and other charred brush, and in conducting a general clean-up of the canyon. They are also watering the damaged trees with the Indian "pumper" fire truck to help bring them back as quickly as possible.

It is reported that practically every one of the several hundred large and small Washington palms damaged by the fire are coming out again, and the tops are green with foliage again. However, the trunks of these trees were all scorched black, and it will be necessary to brush off the charred trunks before the trees will be restored to their original grace and beauty.

Cleaning Suggestions

Millard Wright, local landscape gardener, estimates the damaged trees can be cleaned up and restored to their original beauty for approximately five dollars per tree. He suggests three methods of removing the charred portions of the bark: brushing with power

High School Board To Elect Officers Monday, July 1

An organization meeting of the Palm Springs high school board of trustees is scheduled to be held at noon on Monday, July 1, at the school. Most important single piece of business at this meeting will be election of officers for the next year.

At this meeting John Connell will take office for his elected term. However, he is already serving on the board, having recently been appointed by County Superintendent of Schools E. E. Smith to fill the unexpired portion of Mrs. Nellie N. Coffman's term. Mrs. Coffman resigned from the board.

Also noteworthy is the fact that on July 1st the local high school board will assume complete control of the affairs of the Palm Springs high school and this district. Actual separation of Palm Springs from the Banning Union High School District becomes effective July 1.

South Laguna Beach Buys Fire Truck From Palm Springs

A handsome red Mack fire truck is now parked alongside Palm Springs' big white fire engine at the fire station, taking the place of the old La France truck (the "Red Devil"), which was recently purchased by the community of South Laguna Beach for a sum of $1500.

The red Mack will not remain here permanently. It is only being loaned to Palm Springs until Aug. 15, when a new $12,500 Mack fire engine will be delivered to the local department.

The new truck will afford Palm Springs a considerable amount of publicity due to the fact that it will be placed on display at the International Association of Fire Chiefs annual convention to be held July 31 to Aug. 8 at Spokane, Wash. It will be brought to Palm Springs immediately after the convention.

When the new truck arrives in August, Palm Springs will then have two new, up-to-the-minute Mack fire engines of the very latest design.

Have you sent in your donation to the Red Cross? This worthwhile organization needs funds to carry out its work in the warring nations.

Checks should be sent direct to Mrs. Ted Griffith, Palm Springs.

RABIES WARNING ISSUED BY CHIEF OF POLICE

Three cases of rabies have been reported in the county and one in Palm Springs the past week.

Symptoms

First sign of rabies in a dog is the change in tone of bark. A slight squeak accompanies the bark, and in a short time the squeak becomes more pronounced. Mad dogs with fits froth at the mouth. Ordinarily, however, rabid dogs do not froth at the mouth; they drool because the throat muscles become paralyzed rendering it impossible for them to swallow. Their eyes are also effected to the extent that they cannot focus correctly. They will try to fix their gaze on some object, it appears as a blur to them, they do not know what it is and therefore they bite at anything that touches them or moves near them. They are very nervous, almost continually on the move. If they should happen to bump into something or should a branch of a bush touch them they will bite at it and go on their way.

Persons who have been bitten by any animal should have the wound cauterized immediately. It is useless to use iodine or any other strong antiseptic. See your doctor immediately, and report the incident to the police as soon as possible. If you do not know the owner of the dog or where it can be located, be sure to get a good description of it and watch where it goes. The police will get the dog and impound it for a period of ten days. Should the dog die from rabies, it would give the victim time to start the Pasteur treatment before symptoms appear. After symptoms appear in the person it is too late to start treatment. If the animal should run away and die the victim would not know if the animal died of rabies, and to be on the safe side the victim would have to take the Pasteur treatment.

If it becomes necessary to kill an animal suspected of having rabies, do not shoot it in the head or damage the head in any form. If the head is damaged, it will be impossible to tell if the animal was afflicted with rabies. Don't let your dogs or cats roam; and if they get in a fight with other animals, keep them at home and watch them carefully; and if you notice anything unusual in their behavior, have them examined at once.

SPRINGS CANINE SOLD FOR DEBT NOW IN MOVIES

Once traded by a former Palm Springs owner to settle an advertising bill, "Duke," a white and liver-colored Pointer from the E. A. Kendall kennels on West Ramsey street, Banning, has crashed the movies and is today a full-fledged movie star in his own right.

BILLY LEE AND "DUKE"

Duke, whose screen name is "Promise," is co-starred in his first picture with little Billy Lee in "The Biscuit Eater," which comes to the Banning Theatre Friday and Saturday.

The local canine has also gained fame by posing for an advertising poster for Lucky Strike cigarettes.

Duke, or perhaps his stage name would be better to use now that he is a star, and Paramount officials admit that he has stolen the show from the other characters, has an interesting background as a small dog. He was originally purchased from the Kendalls by a Mr. Stafford, of Georgia. Mr. Stafford traded Duke to a Palm Springs cafe man, who was unable to pay his advertising account to a Palm Springs publication, gave up the dog to Ronney Malandra, former advertising manager of this newspaper, to settle his debt.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Malandra moved to Banning and requested the Kendalls to buy back the dog, which they did.

With good training and his own natural ability it was just a hop-skip and a jump to fame for Duke.

Now, studio officials say, with Duke being a star in his own right, he probably will have to have his own "dog house."

THE DISINHERITED

Disowned as King by his own cabinet, Leopold of Belgium has joined that sorry little group of modern monarchs who promised their people with patriotic fervor to fight to the end—and almost immediately capitulated to the enemy.

A few of the faithful, close to the royal personalities, may know the reasoning that precipitated such surrender—the unrelenting pressure of both friends and enemies; the dark anxiety over the ultimate outcome for their people; the weight of personal responsibility for continuing or halting the surging wave of bloodshed. The multitudes, however, throughout the civilized world, consider the action, for whatever reason, discreditable and unheroic.

Of the latest kingly order to lay down arms, friends and acquaintances of Leopold in California state their opinions. Says William Randolph Hearst: "Leopold, in the decision between sacrifice and dishonor, chose dishonor—very unlike his noble father in 1914." Says Jerd F. Sullivan, of San Francisco, who saw service in the World War and knows the Belgian monarch intimately: "The bitterest condemnation that can be made of Leopold, is that he is both headstrong and temperamental. Unstrung at sight of slaughter of his people, he gave the order without thinking of the damning effect of surrender or its full cost to Belgium and its allies. Certainly not soldierly nor heroic, but perhaps more human than we know."

Leopold, Christian and Wilhelmina—heroic history will have no place for them, for history is hard; it has no place for extenuations. In a world that has too little of understanding, too much of intolerance, it remains for each man, before too bitter excoriation, to consider how strong his own determination in battle would be, with the blood of his subjects, neighbors or friends drenching his feet.

ARMISTICE ON STRIFE

While proud old England abandoned their traditional democracy in face of the evil efficiency of Nazi autocracy, and regimented business, labor and capital under war-time dictatorship, the President of the United States recently declared that this nation can rearm to impregnability and face the future undaunted without sacrificing a single American liberty—if all true Americans will it so.

"New forces are being unleashed," he warned. "Deliberately planned propagandas to divide and weaken us in the face of danger as other nations have been weakened before. These dividing forces are undiluted poison. Our moral and mental defenses must be raised as never before against those who would cast a smokescreen across our vision." That call was for an armistice on strife among ourselves—for revulsion against the "undiluted poison" of intolerance and distrust fostered among us by Nazi and Communist termites.

The sacrifice of the British citizen need not be repeated here. As free men, ruled not by men but by the Constitution and the laws, our forefathers and succeeding generations have built far more efficiently and greatly than any other nation in history. Democratic America has 45,000,000 savings depositors; 64,000,000 insurance policy holders; 29,000,000 automobiles; 40,000,000 radios; 20,000,000 telephones; 6000 public libraries; 242,000 public school buildings and 1250 colleges; 14,000,000 home owners, 3,500,000 farm owners.

Intolerance and strikes and lockouts and hatreds created none of those things. Cooperation under liberty created them. And cooperation under American liberty can build an American defense invincible against the world. Now, surely, is the time for all Americans—workers, investors, managers—to forget old scores and grievances, real or fancied, and to unite for America and against all poisons of discord which foreign agitators seek to inject into our national life. An armistice on strife is the call of highest patriotism today—and the most potent weapon against any would-be invader of the land that owes its greatness to the way of life given birth in the world under the Bill of Rights.

Government, you may think, is the greatest distributor of largesse to the needy—the agency that keeps things going in times of stress.

If you do think that, here are some figures that will startle you. From 1933 to 1938 government spent $13,000,000,000 for relief. And, in the same period of time the life insurance industry paid $16,000,000,000 to its clients. And a very large proportion of that money went to people who, without it, would have had to apply for relief or charity.

Private enterprise still turns the nation's economic wheels—in good times or bad.

Outstanding Riders at Hollywood Park

Many of America's foremost jockeys are vying for riding honors in the big summer turf meeting now underway at Hollywood Park in Inglewood. Above are pictured four of the top-notchers who have been booting in winners and will have important mounts in the $50,000 Gold Cup on July 27 and the $25,000 Derby on July 20—the two outstanding features of the current meeting. A Red Cross Charity Day program will be run at Hollywood Park on July 1.

The American Red Cross, now in the midst of a huge drive to raise funds for the needy in war-torn Europe, will be given the entire proceeds from a special charity day of horse racing at Hollywood Park on Monday, July 1.

This will be the first of two special Monday charity programs to be run during the Inglewood summer meeting which does not close until August 3. The second Monday card is set for July 15. Proceeds of that day will be used for child welfare work.

Meantime, the Hollywood meeting swings into high gear with a flock of rich and highly important stakes to be decided each Saturday and holiday.

Colorful crowds have been packing beautiful Hollywood Park and have been furnished with plenty of thrills thus far. But the biggest thrills are still to come, as the time nears for the running of the outstanding stakes—the $50,000 Hollywood Gold Cup on July 27; the $25,000 Derby on July 20 and the $15,000 American Handicap on July 4.

Many of America's foremost thoroughbred racers will go postward in these rich events—the classic mid-summer Derby having drawn a total of 61 nominees and the great Gold Cup 49.

Among the other rich events which the Hollywood Turf Club has scheduled are the Argonaut Handicap on July 13 and the Starlet Stakes on July 6, the latter to decide the "baby" star of the meeting. A record number of nominations is expected for the Starlet judging by the tremendous number of entries which were received for the Haggins Stakes, a two-year-old event which was decided earlier in the season.

The $10,000 Argonaut Handicap will bring together the handicap stars of the West in their final engagement before they tangle in the rich Gold Cup. And as

Cathedral City

By W. R. HILLERY

W. J. Naef has made more showing in the shortest space of time than this village has ever experienced. One morning last week a string of cabins on house moving equipment arrived from Palm Springs and were shortly on their foundations back of the service station the Naefs have recently purchased in the east end of the village. They are very attractive and with the work Mr. Naef expects to put in on them they would be a credit to any village.

Claude S. Cobb is pinch-hitting for Bill Hagen (we hear Bill is improving, and Avery Tennis is exercising the fire equipment. He is doing much more than just that. Gas, oil, battery, tires, etc., all need attention. While the scope of what a fire district ought to undertake should be carefully studied. It does look as though the formation of such a district is one of the first jobs of this area.

Not only good reports come in that Bill Hagen is improving after a major operation, and that Dr. E. H. Brandt is also coming on well, but that James Wolseth is getting well and hopes to be up and around this fall. Jim, with his wife, Mary, operate the Desert Lodge and Mrs. Wolseth is president of the Cathedral City Woman's Club.

The Sourdoughs have their annual picnic in Los Angeles Sunday and all pioneers of Alaska and the Yukon that are in the Southland will gather for the event. W. R. Hillary expects to join his old tillicums there, and then with his family visit his sister, Mrs. Luella M. Allen in Long Beach for a week.

This community was pleased to learn that E. F. Martell, prominent contractor, secured the contract to build the line wall of the new elementary school here. The contract on the building has not been let, but it would be a pleasing thing if "Ted" landed that too.

C. W. "Slim" Larrison and Alphamay are back from a vacation in the bay region and Yosemite. The trip was both vacation and celebration of a wedding anniversary.

I. Jacobsen reports that W. L. Jordan, prominent citizen of Cathedral City and of Balboa, is due here this week for a short stay.

John Nachant, owner of the Sunkist Court, is back from a short visit at San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Peterson have returned to their desert home after a stay with Mr. Peterson's brother who owns a large ranch near Atascadero.

John Billington, popular manager of the Desert Inn Garage, went up to Lake Arrowhead yesterday, Thursday, with his new boat to try it out for the first time on the icy waters of that mountain lake.

Mr. Billington, a handy man with tools of all kinds (carpenter's as well as automobile mechanic's tools) made the boat himself in his spare time during the winter. It is powered by an outboard motor.

Having watched the boat during course of construction, this reporter would bet that the original test of the craft was successful.

Received from Captain J. P. Schweri, Recruiting Officer, many of the 9,000 new men, needed to fill the ranks of the increased Corps, will see service with the new organizations after completion of their initial Marine Corps training.

Dilworth Is Candidate for Re-election

Assemblyman Nelson S. Dilworth of Hemet this week announced his candidacy for re-election to the California Legislature. Mr. Dilworth has made a splendid record as an honest and courageous legislator and has been one of the foremost "watchdogs" at Sacramento to prevent raids on the state treasury. Following is a letter The Sun received from Mr. Dilworth yesterday:

"Hemet, June 13, 1940.

"The time has come for me to again submit my record as Assemblyman to the voters for their approval. In the present financial emergency of the state with the ever-increasing deficit, my years of experience will be of value. I have vigorously and effectively opposed demands for new commissions and extravagant salaries under two administrations.

"Waste of public funds is inexcusable at any time but at present is a crime against our national safety. Reckless public officials are demanding hundreds of new employees at fanciful salaries and are now assuming a threatening attitude because I have joined with other legislators in saying 'No,' and have hindered their schemes to create a powerful political machine. The Legislature must continue to resist these dangerous demands for patronage.

"At the same time I have supported the present liberal laws for pensions for the aged people of California, believing that they are a worthy and reasonable state expenditure until such time as a complete national pension plan is adopted.

"At the last regular session my bill to curb the activities of pernicious lobbyists passed the Assembly but was unfortunately lost in the confusion of the closing hours of the session in the other house. I would like to complete this effort to place on the statute books this needed legislation. My bill was the only anti-lobby bill to pass either house last session.

"I have favored the anti-usury Act to limit extortionate interest charges in California.

"Twenty-five bills of which I was the author received approval and became laws including acts to improve public health, to promote agriculture and conserve our natural resources and to simplify our election codes.

"This is a serious hour in our national life. It will be wise to continue men in our legislature who have been through the rigors of warfare and know the awful cost of life and health as well as money that war exacts. The world situation requires extreme prudence on our part.

"I pledge my every effort to public welfare and the upholding of unquestioned Americanism in every phase of our state affairs.

"Respectfully,"
"NELSON S. DILWORTH."

Scales Tell Shrinkage Story Of Your Roast Meats

"MORE roasted meat for your money" is the slogan of research worker in meats who advocate low temperature roasting as the successful way to avoid expensive losses in shrinkage. Today the housewife should be just as wise in the ways of oven cookery for meats if she wishes to make her food dollars stretch and to provide better cooked, more nutritious meats for her family.

Developments in the exact art of cookery are not sprung upon a waiting world over night, nor are they adopted as quickly. Yet, any sceptic may be convinced about proper roasting by making her own tests

—using the kitchen scales to weigh meat before and after it is roasted, both by the once customary high temperature method and by low

Builders Supply Dump Troubles Fire Dept.

The large dump just south of the Palm Springs Builders Supply Company seems to be giving the fire department a considerable amount of trouble this summer. The fire boys have been called to the Builders Supply five times during the last two weeks to extinguish the burning or smouldering dump. The dump also caught fire several times during this past winter season.

A large amount of combustible material has been dumped in the big depression over a period of years. This material consists mostly of old tires, sawdust, papers, brush, scraps of lumber and the like. One theory is that this material becomes wet underneath and ignites by spontaneous combustion. At any rate, ever so often the dump starts smoking and bursts into flame, and then it is necessary to summon the fire department to put out the fire.

Some state that the dump should be allowed to "burn out" thoroughly, which would probably put an end to the fire hazard there. However, fire department authorities state the dump would burn and smoke for several weeks, possibly for months, before all the combustible materials would be completely consumed, and the foul-smelling smoke would soon become a nuisance and a high wind might blow sparks into one of the nearby lumber yards.

Some of the smouldering material is actually below the surface of the ground, and yesterday smoke was coming up through large cracks in the earth behind Harold Smith's Garage and Floyd Bigley's service station. The west end of the dump was filled in a few years ago to afford space for the structure housing Harold Smith's garage, and evidently old tires and other trash beneath the filled-in ground (where it is difficult to reach them) are smouldering.

This week the Builders Supply decided to install a large hydrant near the dump so that whenever fire breaks out in the pit, company employees can extinguish it without the necessity of calling out the fire department every time.

Following are the calls to the Builders Supply dump answered recently by the fire department: June 10, 11:20 p. m.; June 11, 2:45 p. m.; June 18, 3:15 p. m., and again at 9:50 p. m.; June 19 in the afternoon.

First Aid Course

This summer will not be an idle time for policemen of Palm Springs, according to Chief of Police Norman H. Harstad, who this week indicated that during the summer months the officers of his department will be required to study and pass the "standard Red Cross first aid examination" and the "Red Cross life saving" test.

The "standard Red Cross first aid course" is being given local police officers by Dr. W. S. Parker of Coachella and has been made possible by the Red Cross organization through the efforts of Mrs. Ted Griffith, local committee chairman. The local firemen are also taking the course.

The policemen and firemen are now studying first aid books. The classes started Tuesday night, and the entire course will comprise some 20 hours spread over a period of four weeks. At the end of the course those who pass the examination will be issued Red Cross first aid certificates.

Life saving will be studied later.

Bill Leonesio Made Deputy State Fire Marshal

Yesterday, Thursday, Assistant State Fire Marshal Miller from Los Angeles was in Palm Springs to inform Fire Chief Bill Leonesio of his appointment as a deputy California State Fire Marshal for the Palm Springs area and to deliver to Mr. Leonesio his badge of office.

This move will give Palm Springs a branch state fire marshal's office, which will be in the local fire station.

Buick Sales Continue Strong

Consistent retail demand in every section of the country was reflected in sales reported this week by W. F. Hufstader, Buick general sales manager, George Roberson, Buick Dealer of Palm Springs, states.

The executive announced that domestic deliveries of Buick motor cars during May totaled 26,072 units, a 32 per cent increase over last year, while the company entered June with nearly 5,000 unfilled orders on hand, according to Mr. Roberson.

Sales during the last 10 days of the month registered a sharp increase over the previous period, Mr. Hufstader said, reflecting the strong tone of the market. He said there had been a good Buick market during recent weeks and that he looked for continued strength this summer.

Used car movement was particularly active during May, he said, with a total of 48,707 units being sold by Buick dealers in the United States. This was the best month's used car volume this year and compared with 37,657 in June last year, a gain of more than 11,000 units. The executive said there appears to be a stiffening in this department even since the first of the year. Buick dealers' used car sales are on the basis of a 28 day supply, representing normal field stocks for this season.

George Roberson operates the Desert Inn Garage here.

LEADING DEMOCRATS BACK JOHNSON

Leading Democrats, headed by Manchester Boddy, well known newspaper publisher and 26 prominent representatives of organized labor, launched a concerted drive in Southern California to reelect Senator Hiram W. Johnson in the August primary by filing a sponsors' petition with Registrar of Voters William H. Kerr in Los Angeles this week.

Truck drivers, bricklayers, lawyers, clerk, teachers and doctors, as well as heads of Democratic clubs and organizations appeared as sponsors in the list of 55 names. Others were filed in San Francisco.

Riverside Editor Praises Culver Nichols

Culver Nichols, member of the Palm Springs and the County Planning Commissions, spent Monday forenoon in the Court House in an endeavor to secure passage by the county board of supervisors of the proposed county zoning ordinance. However, due to objections from certain oil companies and sign board companies, the ordinance was turned back to the commission for revision.

Harry Harper, editor of the Riverside News, had the following to say in his newspaper about Mr. Nichols' untiring efforts:

"It's discouraging to a fellow to run into the opposition that Culver Nichols of Palm Springs met Monday when he appeared before the board of supervisors with the proposed county zoning ordinance.

"After one sincerely believes in a thing, gives of months of his time for its study and finally presents a definite program for action only to have it denounced and debated, it takes the heart out of one.

"But it is ever thus when anything new is suggested. City planning moves went through the hard trials but today are firmly established. City planning prevents the building of a junk yard next to a residence, and keeps industrial plants off to themselves where they smoke up only each other.

"Rural zoning is coming just as surely as dawn follows night, for the public that builds the highways is getting tired of looking only at miles of billboards, hot-dog stands, junk yards, and other odd assortment of stuff one sees along most roads today.

"Through several years of contact with civic affairs your writer has noticed that the man who consistently fights municipal zoning is the first to howl when an objectionable business tries to buy the lot next to his. He then begins yelling bloody murder and wants to know why the city doesn't do something about it.

"Opposition to most zoning regulations is based on conditions that have no bearing on the subject.

"So keep up the good work, Culver. And, by the way, try that ordinance some year when three members of the board of supervisors aren't running for re-election."

S. P. TO SELL ORANGE JUICE AT 15c A GLASS

The Southern Pacific Company is establishing a uniform price of 15c for a glass of orange juice to be served on all trains as well as at station restaurants and soda fountains, was announced today by George J. Blech, general freight agent, as an experiment in the interest of the citrus industry. This is a reduction of 10c over the price charged at the present time on dining cars, where the annual a la carte servings average 30,000, lounge cars 25,000 and coffee shop cars 1,000. They are hopeful, of course, of stimulating the consumption because of the reduced price and perhaps offset the reduction in gross revenue.

"SUSAN AND GOD" AT BANNING THEATRE
TONIGHT AND SATURDAY; RATED "TOPS"

Here's a photo of Joan Crawford and Frederic March as they appear in the photoplay from Rachael Crothers' sensational stage hit, "Susan and God." The picture which carries the same title, "Susan and God," will show at the Banning Theatre tonight and Saturday. It is rated as "tops" by leading critics throughout the nation. And on the same program will be "The Biscuit Eater," a grand story about a dog and a boy, one which will tug at your heart strings.

THE COUNTY AT A GLANCE

BEAUMONT

Guy Bogart has been appointed by Supervisor Lon V. Seigler of the 19th District census office to take the enumeration in the Cherry Valley, Calimesa and intervening territory north and east of U. S. Highway 99. This area has not been taken and many inquiries were received at the Riverside office. Bogart, who had previously completed three other districts, was asked by Mr. Seigler to complete this registration. He began his enumeration on Monday, starting in Cherry Valley.

INDIO

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thackery left Monday for Carlsbad, where they recently purchased a home. They plan to make their permanent home in the pleasant beach community.

Mr. Thackery, senior agriculturist for the U. S. Government, Department of Agriculture, retired May 30 after 48 years of service. For three years during the World War, however, the noted agriculturist was granted leave to grow wheat on Indian land for the government.

The first time Mr. Thackery came to Indio was in 1911 and much of his time since has been spent at the U. S. Experiment station near Indio. His family moved to Indio, December 28, 1935.

The retired government man will devote his time to writing his experiences during his long period of government service. He has been contacted by several magazines for the articles, it is understood.

BLYTHE

With the first intensive poisoning campaign against the grasshopper infestation in Palo Verde valley virtually completed, Philip

Crow, agricultural inspector, says that the insects have been considerably reduced in numbers and that he does not expect any serious infestation again until the next hatch.

With nearly 5,600 acres covered during the campaign, some poisoning is still being carried on in the valley, he reports, but the immediate danger seems to have passed.

Since commencement of the poisoning campaign in April, nearly 1,500 sacks of mixed bait have been distributed throughout the valley over a total acreage of 55,750, Crow reports.

The total amount of bran, cottonseed hulls, and sodium arsenite on hand for further use in poisoning was given by Crow as 119,600 pounds of bran, 32,645 pounds of cottonseed hulls, and 480.5 gallons of sodium arsenite.

COACHELLA

A numerous group of young Americans of Spanish and Mexican descent plan to form in the near future a Club of Voters for Coachella Valley. The club slogan will be "Not political ambition, but for love and our country."

EL SINORE

Elsinore is being favorably considered as a training base for flyers for the United States Army and Navy.

A lease has been secured on 250 acres of grounds at the south end of the lake as the possible location of the flying field, and 750 acres more will be secured.

Representatives for the training school, who have spent considerable time in this location familiarizing themselves with climatic conditions, consider this an ideal location.

Their program will include not only the establishment of the flying field but also the construction of homes and barracks for

COUNTY CHAMBER MEETS SATURDAY AT IDYLLWILD

Riverside County Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual meeting at the Idyllwild Inn Saturday evening, with dinner to be served at 6:45 o'clock. Price $1.25 per plate.

Speaker of the evening is to be George Hjelte, superintendent of the Los Angeles city department of playgrounds and recreation, whose subject will be "Recreation Activities in Our Mountain and Desert Areas."

L. W. Covert, Beaumont mayor and chairman of the county chamber parks and recreation committee, is to act as chairman of the meeting, while the annual report of the organization will be presented by Irwin E. Farrar, chairman of the county chamber advisory board.

A special week-end rate of $3.00 has been made for the Saturday night dinner, room for the night, and breakfast Sunday morning. The Saturday noon luncheon will be 65c to $1.10, and the Sunday noon dinner will be 65c to $1.25.

The business meeting will start at 4:00 o'clock p. m., and every one is welcome. Music during the dinner will be furnished by the Idyllwild Inn Orchestra.

Green Shack Adds Barbecued Ribs

Hallie Mains, who operates the famous Green Shack between Banning and Beaumont, announces that she has added barbecue ribs to her popular establishment's regular menu of fried chicken and steaks. The barbecue ribs are popularly priced at only fifty cents.

The Green Shack is a popular rendezvous of "Palm Springs," especially during the summer months, when the cool drive up to Banning in the evening is unusually enjoyable. And of course, as always, the refreshing cocktails of Mixmaestro "Roscoe" are to be had in the bar.

HEMET

A cashier's check for $823.24, the total contributed by Hemet Valley residents to the Norwegian relief fund, was yesterday sent to the fund's national headquarters at Chicago, following the meeting Wednesday afternoon of the local committee. The last contribution to the fund was that of $23.60 made by the Zion's Norwegian Ladies Aid, raised at a party which the women recently had at the John Eggen cabin at Idyllwild.

Rebuilding of devastated areas, particularly the homes of people of small means, is the primary purpose for which the Norwegian relief fund will be used. This need is extremely urgent, it is stated, with at least 15 cities and towns almost totally destroyed by bombs and many villages and farm buildings also destroyed.

CHICO AND SALLY TO OPEN NEW BEAUTY SHOP

This summer the Palm Springs Hotel will erect a small building at the northeast corner of the grounds for Chico and Sally Serpa, who will be associated in the operation of a beauty salon there next season. The new shop will face Palm Canyon Drive just south of Brock's Waffle Shop.

Chico and Sally have each been in business for themselves here for several years. Chico's Beauty Salon was located last season just south of the Palm Springs Hotel, and Sally has operated El Mirador Beauty Salon for a number of years.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Serpa have a large clientele who will be happy to learn that these two popular beauty experts will be associated together in the same salon.

Dr. W. S. Nourie, well known local osteopath, next season will occupy the shop being vacated by Chico. The Doctor's quarters will be enlarged and will include a waiting room, two dressing rooms and a treatment room.

SUN SPOTS...

Mitchell, warned this country several years ago, but we did not heed his warning. He can't be accused of being pro-German. He is 100% pro-America.

We must have unity in this country. The majority in Congress will decide our course, and the nation will abide by their decision. No matter how much we wrangle among ourselves and oppose some of them on issues in time of peace, no one has the right to doubt their patriotism, for they will do what they believe is best for this country. For that reason we should insist that Congress remain in session during the present critical period. In the meantime, the advocates of peace have the same right to be heard as the advocates of war. We believe Congress welcomes public expression, and for that reason we publish the following excerpt from Lindbergh's Saturday night speech:

"You men and women of America who believe that our destiny lies in building strength at home and not in war abroad—to you I say that we must act now to stop this trend toward war. An organized minority in this country is flooding our Congress and our press with propaganda for war. They are spending large sums of money in advertisements. They are telegraphing, writing and talking every hour of the day, pushing us closer and closer to the edge. Some are even now demanding a declaration of war."

"If you believe that we should not enter a European war, you must support those of us who oppose such action. We cannot stop this trend alone. Some of your Representatives in Washington are already considering a declaration of war, but they are responsible to you for the action they take. Let them know how you feel about this. Speak to your friends and organize in your community. Nothing but a determined effort on the part of every one of us will prevent the disaster toward which our nation is now heading."

It is regrettable that Senator Pittman, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has accused Lindbergh of spreading false political propaganda, but it is reassuring to the nation that the Senator augmented his remarks with the following statement: "Let the people of the United States understand once and for all that there is no immediate danger of attack on this country, that there is future danger of Hitler's involving this country in a serious war, that this country is able, and intends to make any preparation that may be necessary to successfully defend this hemisphere against any invasion by Hitler or by any other militaristic conqueror."

This newspaper has said on numerous occasions that it is our duty to feed and clothe the war refugees and to give the Allies all the war supplies we can spare, but that nothing would be gained by sending American boys to die on foreign soil. American hearts bleed for the unfortunate victims of this war, but we dare not have the same thing happen to America. There is grave danger this might happen if we sacrifice our man-power prematurely.

wire brush, sand blasting or by pumping a suspension of sand and water under high pressure against the tree trunks.

The Indians report that their "pumper" truck throws a stream of water with so much force that throwing this stream against the trunks of the trees takes off nearly a third of the charred material from the trunks. This they do as they water the trees, thus accomplishing two purposes at one time.

Enlarge Springs

Indian workmen are also trying to enlarge springs in the canyon to increase the flow of water to the damaged trees. This will help stimulate their growth.

The Agua Caliente Indian tribe is holding back as much as possible in the work, hoping to get an appropriation from Congress to help them with the restoration of the canyon. As tribal income is very small during the summer months, the Indians would rather not use tribal funds to any great extent for the purpose.

The Mission Indian Agency has applied to Congress for such an appropriation.
